

Study MBBS Abroad

ABOUT OUR FOUNDER

Dr Nikesh Ranjan, the Founder of Nix Group is an MBBS graduate by profession. He is well versed and knows the system of how middle class and underprivileged students cannot fulfil their dream of becoming doctors because of several reasons, be it high competition in the NEET, financial burden to pay the medical school fees or being cheated by educational consultancies.

Over the years, Dr Nikesh Ranjan introduced various companies under the Nix Group and presented Nix Study Abroad in 2016. A transparent and direct way to fulfil the dream of becoming a doctor, because of our direct link with local government, universities and our own representative offices across the globe. We provide end to end service, showcase the correct fee structure, give unmatched services and take total care till the student complete their education and return home.

European universities typically provide various accommodation options for their students. These options may include on-campus dormitories, off-campus apartments, or assistance in finding private accommodations.

On-campus dormitories offer convenience and a sense of community as students live in close proximity to university facilities and fellow classmates. They usually provide furnished rooms and common areas for socializing and studying.

Off-campus apartments may be available for students who prefer more independence. Universities often assist students in finding suitable accommodations in the local area. This option allows students to experience the surrounding community and culture while managing their daily routines.

It's important to note that the availability and specific details of accommodation options vary by university and location. Students are advised to check the university's official website or contact the housing department for accurate and up-to-date information regarding accommodation options, application procedures, costs, and other relevant details.
